All for the love of 'Mouse' McKenzie

Tremendous turnout at fundraiser for injured cowboy

VICKI BROOKER

Welcome home, 'Mouse'!

Wheelchair-bound roping accident victim Malcolm 'Mouse' McKenzie was surrounded by an arena full of good friends and wellwishers as soon as he arrived at the C. G. Baker Arena, and throughout the evening at Saturday's benefit sand dance in Elk Point. This huge outpouring of support is sure to remain in the hearts of the McKenzie family forever.

Elk Point's C. G. Baker Memorial Arena was filled to capacity Saturday night as not only the local community, but roping, barrel racing and other equine enthusiasts from far and wide gathered to support team roper Malcolm McKenzie and his family. McKenzie broke his neck in a roping accident in August and has been hospitalized ever since.

McKenzie made a surprise appearance at Saturday's fundraiser, and from the moment he steered his electric wheelchair into the arena, he was surrounded by an endless parade of friends who delivered handshakes, hugs and wishes for a speedy and complete recovery.

Many also left messages on a denim quilt, which will be a lasting souvenir of the event for the McKenzie family, while others patronized the photo booth and captured the moment in western-themed portraits.

The north wall of the arena was lined with well over 100 silent auction items, ranging from stud service to chaps, western attire to an exquisite carved bench, which kept bidders on their toes throughout the evening. Another 23 items, including an ATV, hay bales and a goalie stick signed by the 1984 Stanley Cup-winning Oilers, were auctioned off by Andy Jubinville for a total in excess of $31,000 before Bonnyville recording star Tiffany Dowhan and her band took to the stage to provide some excellent country music for the sand dance.

It may take the Elk Point Agricultural Society and other organizers of the hugely successful event much of this week to tally up the proceeds, which were the result of countless generous donations, both of auction items, labour to get the arena steam-cleaned, painted up and party-ready and even such items as the loan of lighting for the parking lot.

Town approves regional emergency bylaw

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

New Director of Regional Emergency Management Rob Duffy visited Elk Point Town Council's Oct. 14 meeting to outline what his job entails, and to discuss the need for region-based disaster management.

Duffy's visit paved the way for council's appointment of Coun. Dwayne Yaremkevich as Elk Point's Deputy Director of Regional Emergency Management and the passage of all three readings of Regional Emergency Management By-Law 731/14. The bylaw gives the mayor, deputy mayor, or in their absence, the acting mayor or two councillors, the power to declare, renew or terminate a state of local emergency under the provincial government act pertaining to emergency management.

The town and county of St. Paul councils have also passed the bylaw.

Borrowing bylaw

Another bylaw passed its first reading at the meeting, this one allowing the town to borrow $1.6 million from the Alberta Capital Finance Authority to build a treated water reservoir. After studying the payment schedules and interest totals for terms of various lengths, council agreed to a 10-year term, thus saving the town and its ratepayers a substantial amount of interest.

Christmas lights

All will be bright for Christmas in Elk Point, after council accepted a recommendation coming out of the Public Works meeting to replace the 19-year-old Christmas lights on Highway 41, 50 St. and 50 Ave with new and more efficient lights that will use substantially less power to operate. Funding for the lights will come from the town beautification fund and unused funds that had been budgeted for this year's economic development board expenses and recreation coordinator wages.

Arena repairs

A recommendation from the public works committee to pay for two sets of repairs to the A. G. Ross Arena was also approved. Repairs to damaged blocks at the northwest and northeast corners and installation of new flashing on the south side were needed, with the cost totaling just over $28,000.

Available lots

Town manager Myron Goyan provided council with reports on industrial and residential lots available for sale. Of a total of 22 serviced industrial lots, nine have been sold, six are pending and seven are still available. Four serviced industrial lots have been sold, 11 lots are currently pending and one is available for purchase. Council agreed to refund the deposit on one industrial lot that the purchaser decided was not needed at this time.

County turns down rezoning

JANICE HUSER
Review Contributor

County of St. Paul council defeated the second reading of a bylaw to rezone about 77 acres of land near Elk Point, after hearing a number of concerns being expressed by area residents during a public hearing on Oct. 14 in council chambers.

Bylaw 2014-24 would have rezoned a portion of land located at S 1/2 SE 6-57-6-W4 from agricultural to industrial commercial. The land falls just outside the area that the Town of Elk Point has set aside for industrial development.

Concerns raised by residents in written form and verbally included ensuring orderly, professional, and aesthetically pleasing development was taking place, environmental concerns for wetlands and wildlife, tax issues, safety issues along the highway, and uncertainty about the scale of development taking place.

"I also feel that we were misled," said Myra Bochon, a nearby resident who spoke against the development. She said that at an earlier meeting with area residents, the company requesting the rezoning did not have answers to many questions being raised.

"If there is development, it needs to be followed in a very well-planned fashion," she said.

Another resident, Ollie Fedorus voiced concern specific to wildlife he believes lives in the area, such as migrating birds and a moose. He said the area was "prime land" for pasture and questioned how many councillors had personally visited the area in question.

Speaking in favour of the rezoning was Vishal Luthra, CEO of Luthind Enterprises Inc. He told council he wanted to work in compliance with the community and made a presentation during the public hearing to attempt to ease concerns.

"We want a Class A facility for our people," said Luthra. He said the plan was to have an appealing looking building and a clean yard for trucks to park.

He also presented maps showing that a nearby lake wasn't actually part of the property being rezoned. The company is already operating near Elk Point, but the new location would include a permanent building and yardsite.

Luthra noted that he anticipates the trucking business could potentially double in the next five years, and wants to have enough space to meet its future needs.

"We are a small business trying to build our future for the next 10 years," he said. It was noted that the company is not planning on using the whole 77 acres of the property for its business at this time.

Coun. Cliff Martin questioned why the business was requesting to rezone the entire 77 acres. Luthra responded saying it's been a long process to rezone the land and he didn't want to have to go through it again, if more land was needed in the future.

Later in the regular County of St. Paul meeting, council discussed the rezoning, with most councillors expressing concern over the amount of land included in the rezoning.

Coun. Glen Ockerman expressed his concerns regarding a similar situation near Elk Point where a business has grown much larger than anticipated, and residents are now expressing concerns because of increased truck traffic.

He added that with the participation and concerns of the public being shown, council should be mindful. Ockerman noted that the company could instead buy multiple industrial lots in Elk Point to meet its needs.

"I think we need to move careful on this one," said Ockerman.

Coun. Dwight Dach said he felt the county would be working against the Town of Elk Point by allowing the rezoning.

Ockerman requested a recorded vote on the issue. Only Coun. Maxine Fodness voted in favour of the motion for second reading of the bylaw, defeating the bylaw.

- Eggs seem to be making a bit of a comeback from the bad books of nutrition. Eating an egg a day is no longer taboo. The yolks do contain some cholesterol but also some healthy nutrients like vitamins A and D, iron, zinc and folate.
- Social media repetitive stress injuries are becoming more and more common especially among teens. With some teens texting more than 3000 times per month, it's no wonder some are experiencing pain in the thumbs, neck, shoulders and elbows. Texters are not about to stop doing it so good posture while texting is important. Sitting up straight and taking a break from it for a few minutes will help minimize the problem. If it persists, see a physiotherapist.
- Pharmacists often are asked about certain herbal medications and whether they are safe and effective for certain conditions. An example is the herb feverfew, a member of the daisy family and some have suggested it may help those with migraines. There is "fair" but not convincing evidence that it may help prevent migraines. However, it should be avoided in pregnancy and avoided for 2 weeks prior to surgery because it may affect blood clotting.
- Most pregnant women experience morning sickness during the first trimester although it often lasts longer than just mornings. Various non-drug treatments have been tried. These include acupuncture, chamomile, lemon oil, vitamin B6 and ginger. The evidence for ginger and B6 was greater (although still weak).
- Our pharmacists are familiar with these products. We'd be glad to help.

Celebrating small business

It's Small Business Week, and a great opportunity to celebrate the huge role that small businesses play in our community.

Just because a business starts off small, doesn't mean it will stay that way. Many of our huge oilfield companies, such as E-Can, started with a single truck, and grew from there to become big players in industry. Elk Point Co-op and its parent, St. Paul and District Co-op, started out many years ago as small stores, growing along with their membership to serve much bigger communities today.

Small businesses often have major advantages over big chains. One of these is the personalized service that we have become used to.

Would a bakery department in a major store invent pin-ribbon-shaped bread rolls just because the Wild Pink Yonder was coming through town, and then donate them to the cause? Likely not, but our local bakery did.

A major department store might say, "Sorry, we don't have that in your size," but they aren't likely to add, "I'll order one in and call you when it gets here," which a small business would be very likely to do.

Small businesses cut and curl our hair, fix our lawn mowers, cook us a mouthwatering steak dinner, engrave our trophies and even find us a new home when needed. Whatever would we do without them?

THIS WEEK

Small business: Canada's engine of growth

Small and medium-sized businesses are the cornerstone of the Canadian economy. They account for 99.9 per cent of all Canadian companies and employ more than 60 per cent of private sector workers, according to the Business Development Bank of Canada (BDC), which believes this contribution deserves to be celebrated and that entrepreneurs need support in building successful, innovative businesses. Small Business Week activities provide an opportunity to celebrate, develop new skills, make new contacts, and plan for new opportunities.

For 35 years, the BDC Small Business Week™ has been held in recognition of the contributions and achievements of Canada's entrepreneurs. Events held during the week bring entrepreneurs together at conferences, luncheons and trade fairs across the country where they have the opportunity to learn, network and enjoy themselves in the company of their peers.

BDC Small Business Week™ 2014 takes place from October 19 - 25 under the theme, "BACK TO BASICS: REENERGIZE YOUR BUSINESS."

Successful entrepreneurs focus on tried and true strategies to take their companies to the next level. They know there will be challenges on their path to creating and sustaining a competitive business. To prevail, they need the right preparation and a solid roadmap. That means fostering excellent customer and supplier relationships, applying sound financial management principles and hiring the best people. It is a time to celebrate and promote Canadian entrepreneurs—to go back to basics and reenergize your business.

WAY BACK WHEN...

Recreation land plebiscite, regional board, unsung heroes

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE ELK POINT REVIEW AND LAKELAND REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF OCT. 21 IN...

1984

Town council set Nov. 14 as the date for a plebiscite when Elk Point voters would go to the polls to determine if the town would or would not purchase the parcel of recreation land that had been the prime subject of discussion for more than five months. Chamber of Commerce president Carol Metz welcomed Lakeland College and its expanded programming in both credit and non-credit courses to Elk Point.

1989

Amoco Canada announced a $6 million, 24-well drilling program for the Elk Point project, 12 km south of Elk Point, with 14 infill wells on 20-acre spacing and 10 delineation wells on 40-acre spacing. John Zenko, who represented Division 2 from 1974 to 1986, was back on County of St. Paul Council with a 193-to-170 vote margin over Gordon Kuhn.

1994

The County of St. Paul School Board, the St. Paul Public School Board and the County of Two Hills School Board would be joining forces to become the Greater St. Paul Region 1, with Glen Avon Separate School Board given the option to join in the regionalized board as well. Elk Point and District Agricultural Society was moving forward with a new executive and a new format, with members voting overwhelmingly in favour of splitting the society's mortgage between the Arena Operating Committee, at 62 per cent, and the Fairgrounds Committee, at 38 per cent.

Elk Point White Sox midget baseball coach Doug Bassett was named Baseball Alberta's 3M Coach of the Year, a rare honour usually going to a coach at the Triple A level. Town council was formally advised that while Elk Point didn't have some of the attributes Northern Lights Library System was looking for in a home for its headquarters, it did have an appropriate building available, which made it worthy of further evaluation.

2004

Lieutenant Governor, the Hon. Lois Hole addressed "the unsung heroes of civilization" at the 12th annual Northern Lights Library Conference, telling the library staffs and library board trustees they were "one of the biggest reasons for our current peace and prosperity." Glen Ockerman was victorious in the County of St. Paul election for Division 1, winning the seat formerly held by Allen Young, who decided not to run for another term.

2009

The debate over the use of sea cans for storage in areas other than the industrial park continued at a public hearing, with the Elk Point Baptist Church "definitely needing storage" and residents coming with photos of sea cans that had been transformed with paint, roofs and trim, noting that these were far more attractive than some derelict garden sheds in the community. Elk Point Fire Department was cooking for a cause at the Servus Credit Union Day fundraiser for Mothers Against Drunk Driving, and were the only lunch cooks in town, due to a power outage.

The Elk Point Review publishes a variety of opinions as a contribution to debate on matters of public concern. Unsigned editorials express the view of this newspaper's editorial board which includes the Publisher and the Editor. Signed pieces express the view of the individual writer.

Elk Point business districts growing and expanding

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

The small attendance at chamber of commerce meetings in Elk Point is far from a reflection of the business atmosphere in the community. In fact, local entrepreneurs may just be far too busy attending to business to take time out for lunchtime meetings.

Drive down Elk Point's main street on almost any day, and you may have difficulty finding a place to park, as stores, financial institutions and restaurants are all busy serving their clientele. The Town of Elk Point has added one and a half blocks of angle parking to help accommodate downtown shoppers, but parking space is often still at a premium.

Elk Point Co-op is getting closer each week to the completion of their major expansion and renovation project, and right across the street, another business premises is undergoing a massive upgrade in preparation for a new downtown business.

Shirley and Glen Harms are back in their original location with their new enterprise, Lakeland Realty, and across the street, a long-closed vintage building is now being renovated to become the home of Jeep Headz, a currently home-based business where Vern Price and his wife Sheryl McNeil are doing ATV and snowmobile repairs.

Down toward Highway 41, a long-arm quilting business and an oilfield company have filled the two vacant spaces in another building.

Elk Point's new industrial park is filling up, with nine lots along Highway 41 sold and another 11 pending, as town council is already in discussions about further expansion. Town council has also had discussions with a number of other businesses that are anticipating a move to town.

Residential lots are also selling well, in both the new and established districts, and the community's growth is starting to show its impact on local services and infrastructure, with the town expanding its sewage lagoon and moving forward on the construction of a new treated water reservoir, and the local library making a decision to ask the town and county to seek out funding for a larger library. A new RCMP Detachment is also in the planning stages.

Business growth is not contained to the town limits, either. Work is underway on expansion at the Outrider Truck Stop, and the former Elk Point Packers building was recently demolished to make way for another new development.

The continuing growth of Elk Point's business and industrial districts has the Town of Elk Point and the chamber of commerce very optimistic that the current growth spurt will continue in the coming years.

St. Paul & District

Chamber of Commerce

CHAMBER SUPPORTS and CELEBRATES SMALL BUSINESS

The St. Paul & District Chamber of Commerce congratulates St. Paul & area businesses and entrepreneurs.

Small Business Week is a chance for all businesses to be acknowledged and congratulated. Chamber understands the challenges and rewards of operating a business and we work to advocate on your behalf.

The Chamber Board of Directors is made up of volunteers from the business community who give their time to strengthen and support the business community by hosting networking events, advocating on business issues, creating partnerships and attending or representing Chamber at a variety of committee and council meetings.

During Small Business Week, the Chamber will be celebrating small business by taking time during the week to visit member businesses and hosting a Meet & Greet on Tuesday evening from 4:30 to 6:30 pm at the CPac Conference Centre. The intention is to create dialogue and connect members to find out what issues they are faced with, enabling the Chamber to better serve its membership.

Trucker dies in rollover

SGT. DAVE CASEY
Elk Point RCMP

On Wednesday Oct. 15, at approximately 9:45 pm, the Elk Point RCMP, Elk Point Fire Department and EMS from St. Paul, responded to a report of a single vehicle rollover on Murphy Road near the plant.

RCMP arrived on scene and observed a semi tractor with a tanker had rolled into the west ditch. The driver was located in the cab, he was not breathing and there was no pulse, the member and bystanders removed him from the semi and CPR was started. Fire and ambulance arrived and resuscitation attempts continued. The 49 year old male driver was pronounced deceased at scene.

The vehicle was traveling southbound, the right side tires caught the edge of the paved road, the semi and full tanker rolled into the ditch. The contents of the tanker, crude oil, spilled. Clean up of the vehicle and the spill has taken place. Traffic was re-routed for several hours.

Speed and alcohol were not a factor.

Town council

Letter of support

Council agreed to send a letter of support to the County of St. Paul regarding the county's intention to seek grant funding to construct a sand and salt storage shed at the Elk Point Transfer Station that could be used by both town and county. The county's current shed is located at the Elk Point airport, while the town has been storing their product outdoors.

Chamber proposal

Coun. Debra McQuinn brought forward a proposal from the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce, which she felt might be a way for the chamber to pay off debt and become self-sustaining. She suggested that the portion of the staging area east of the gazebo could be developed into 10 or more overnight campsites and the funds raised from campsite rentals could pay for a full time employee.

Mayor Parrish Tung said the chamber's first steps toward determining the feasibility of such a development would be to approach the Riverland Recreational Trail Association if this would be possible, and then to determine the cost of installing power to the sites.

The chamber is currently suffering a decline in interest, to the point where there was not a quorum at the October meeting, Coun. Yaremkevich noted, with the result that no decisions could be made and no planning for the Christmas Extravaganza could take place.

Grant approval

The town has received word from Alberta Transportation regarding two grants, with $1,323,473 approved to cover 65.91 per cent of the cost of the wastewater lagoon extension, and approval of $3,778,150 for the Elk Point/St. Paul Regional Water Commission for the regional water line and water plant revision.

Airport sale

Information regarding the potential for the town of Elk Point and County of St. Paul to assume ownership of the Elk Point airport will be forwarded to the Airport Commission for their perusal.

Wild Pink Yonder report

Deputy Mayor Bernice Capjack presented her final report on the Wild Pink Yonder's visit to Elk Point, noting that the committee had spent $742.91 of their $1,000 budget on the event, with Golden Loaf Bakery donating the buns and Prairie Tech donating the use of their tent for the occasion. The committee held a garage sale and a raffle and was proud to present the Wild Pink Yonder with a cheque for $1,527 plus some cash donations.

COUNTY OF ST. PAUL No. 19

HIGHLIGHTS

October 14, 2014 Council Meeting

Year Round Fire Permits – Reminder that fire permits are now required for year round burning.

Planning and Development – Council approved Bylaw No. 2014-27 to license ½ mile of undeveloped road allowance between NE 26-59-12-W4 and NW 25-59-12-W4 and Bylaw No. 2014-28 to license one mile of road allowance between NE & SE 12-61-12-W4 and NW & SW 7-61-11-W4, both for grazing purposes. While the agreement allows the licensee to use the land, public access must be permitted at all times and no signs discouraging access will be allowed.

Council gave second and third reading to Bylaw No. 2014-20 to rezone Lot B, Plan 8822712 from Agricultural to Industrial Commercial. After hearing from area residents who were opposed to a proposed rezoning of 77.27 acres in the S ½ SE 6-57-6-W4 from Agricultural to Industrial Commercial, Council defeated Bylaw No. 2014-24 at second reading.

Bylaw Nos. 2014-29, 2014-31 and 2014-32, which are bylaws to amend the County's Land Use Bylaw all received first reading. Proposed bylaw No. 2014-29 is to rezone Part of NE 25-56-7-W4 from Agricultural to Industrial Commercial as the owner wishes to expand the existing business on his property. Bylaw No. 2014-31 is an application to rezone PSE 25-56-7-W4 from Agricultural to Country Residential One to allow for the construction of a new home on the subdivided property. Bylaw No. 2014-32 is to rezone 18.31 acres in PSW 34-57-9-W4 from Agricultural to Country Residential One (CR1). The area must be rezoned as the parcel is too small to take out two additional parcels under the current zoning.

Regional Emergency Management Agency – Council approved a Regional Emergency Management Bylaw to establish an Emergency Advisory Committee and Regional Emergency Management Agency. The Advisory Committee will ensure that an emergency plan and program are prepared to address potential emergencies or disasters affecting the County. The Management Agency will carry out emergency management activities on behalf of the County. Dennis Bergheim has been appointed as the Deputy Director of the Regional Emergency Management Agency.

FCSS – The Annual Seniors' Festival will be held on November 28, 2014 from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. in Heinsburg. Bussing will be available from Ashmont, Mallaig, St. Paul and Elk Point. FCSS is also pleased to announce that effective November 1, a Meal on Wheels/Visitation Program will be implemented for seniors who live in the County of St. Paul. For further information contact the FCSS department at 780-645-1950.

Grant Applications – County Council approved applications for several grants under the Alberta Community Partnership (ACP) Grant Program.

- Partnering with the County of Two Hills, the County will make application for new orthophotos for both Counties. The advantage of updating these are for Planning and Development, Emergency Response, Taxation and Assessment, as well as infrastructure development.

- Partnering with the Town of Elk Point, the County will make application for the construction of a new Salt Shed as well as a Pole Shed to be located at the Elk Point Transfer Station. This grant application will provide better facilities for both the County and Elk Point. The County would house a Loader at this facility during the winter months that would be used by both municipalities. In addition, the municipalities will benefit from inventory that would be utilized by both, and charged out at cost.

- Partnering with the Town of St. Paul, the Town will make application supported by the County for needed fire equipment including breathing apparatus, bunker gear, etc.

- Partnering with Evergreen Regional Waste Management Commission, the County will make application for a collaboration grant under this program for the development of a Business Plan for the Commission.

Strategic Plan – Administration provided the third quarter update on the Strategic Business Plan which can be viewed on the County website at www.county.stpaul.ab.ca.
